

Seedling's Promise

Mentor Program for Children of Incarcerated Parents.

Piloted in 2005, this program is becoming a model of mentor support for Central Texas school districts.

Informational Links:

- Seedling's Promise Brochure
- Mentor Minutes
- FAQs
- National Resource Center on Children and Families of the Incarcerated
- Seedling's Promise Training Calendar

Schools

The Seedling's Promise program is currently active at the following schools: (click on the links to see a map to the school location.)

Austin ISD

- Allan Elementary
- Allison Elementary
- Blackshear Elementary
- Brooke Elementary
- Campbell Elementary
- Govalle Elementary
- Hart Elementary
- Linder Elementary
- Metz Elementary
- Norman Elementary
- Oak Springs Elementary
- Ortega Elementary

- Pickle Elementary
- Pillow Elementary
- Pleasant Hill Elementary
- Rodriguez Elementary
- Sanchez Elementary
- Sims Elementary
- St. Elmo Elementary
- Travis Heights Elementary
- Zavala Elementary

- Bedichek Middle School
- Fulmore Middle School
- Kealing Middle School
- Martin Middle School
- Webb Middle School

Pflugerville ISD

- Copperfield Elementary School

Did you Know?

Seedling's Promise is a school-based mentoring program for children whose parents are in prison. Read more to learn about becoming a mentor and changing a life!

- Bill of Rights for Children of the Incarcerated PDF
- 2009 Bureau of Justice Special Report PDF

